Re: Update on Investigation of Timothy Chokas Matter

Below, I summarize the further steps I have taken to investigate the above-named matter since our May 5, 2020 meeting.

I have conducted interviews of seven additional former students, six other adults, and one parent of a former student. I also am in the process of scheduling interviews with two additional parents of a former student, as well as another adult who has information and documents he has offered to share with me concerning complaints by students about Mr. Chokas. Given the ongoing pandemic, all of the interviews have been and will continue to be conducted remotely.

I also continue to receive referrals from the students I have already interviewed.

At this time, as witnesses are still coming forward, I do not believe it is appropriate to end the interview process next week. I do not want to convey the impression that the investigation is winding down just as witnesses are coming forward.

If there are any questions about the course of the investigation to date, please do not hesitate to contact me.
