Honorable Board of Education for our Town of Stonington Connecticut,

I submit this testimony in writing as I have conflicting commitments during the hour of discussion.

I'm certain that the mild health impacts to the under 25 crowd have been testified to and we have agreed as a nation for a long time that this disease largely affects the elderly and people with major diseases as comorbidity. Rather than bore you with facts and statistics, let me tell you what's happening in my family right now.

My granddaughter was diagnosed with covid on Tuesday at 2pm. She is 3 months old. I've read the statistics that say that only a handful of kids under 10 have succumbed to the COVID disease in any of its variants since Jan 2020. Still, she is my granddaughter. No sooner had I started to worry that she'd be the exception that we got the call that her fever broke and she is acting fine. She 'felt sick' for about 6 hours. Yesterday morning, Christa reported that her daughter was happy, hungry, and acting as though nothing happened. To the people that are concerned that the lowest risk among us, the under 5 crowd, has no access to the vaccine, they can be reassured that the Omicron variant is still having a small impact on our young.

In November 2020, we lost my grandmother to an earlier variant of COVID. We were her primary caregivers while our shop was shut down. During this time, she expressed her annoyance that kids were locked away from friends, and locked out of school. She couldn't understand. I know that we made a bargain with our students. Just wear the mask and keep your distance while the adults come up with a vaccine and other solutions. Once we get grandma safe, we'll give you your childhoods back.

Well, here we are. We have a variant that is milder than the flu, FINALLY. We have a solid array of vaccines, we know the proper care and treatment in hospital for the disease, and we are even prescribing medicines to ease side effects as a home care option.

It's time to give back our children their friends, their childhood, and let them understand that adults operate with the highest integrity.

If it helps in your decision process, here is a short list of Connecticut towns that are siding with their students to make masks an option, not a requirement to access our educational system:

Ansonia, Bethel, Bridgeport (Mar 31), Bristol, Fairfield, Glastonbury, Madison, Montville, New Fairfield, New Milford, Newington, Newtown, North Haven, North Stonington, Plainfield, Preston, Southington, Stafford, Stamford (Mar 15), Watertown, West Hartford, Wethersfield

I have only found 2 towns putting off their decision: New Haven and Mansfield (UCONN)

Respectfully Submitted,
Matthew Beaudoin

Upholding School Mask Mandates

Good afternoon,

My name is Stephanie Gagnon and I am the mother of two elementary students who attend Deans Mill School. I have worked in healthcare with Yale New Haven Health for nearly 17 years. Our entire family is fully vaccinated and we still continue to wear masks and practice social distancing in public settings. A true testament, none of the 4 of us has ever contracted COVID. I work with COVID positive patients daily. I also deal with unknown COVID positive patients. We wear masks for nearly 10 hours a day and it does show that masks work. As we saw after the holidays, our numbers sky-rocketed. During the holidays, masks came off, large groups came together, and infections spread like wildfire. If we end masking at school, I believe our rate of infection will increase exponentially. It's not necessarily the severity of the infections with these mutations, it's the long term after effects of the infections. For the fact that young families have children in school with siblings that are yet of age to become vaccinated, we need to keep them safe.

My biggest fear with ending the mask mandate and leaving up to parental discretion is that it will open the doors to teasing and taunting among peers. As we see it from grown adults on social media platforms, taunting and name calling of those that opt to keep masked is going to happen. Children are a direct reflection of what they are taught or what they hear from adults in their life. I don't want my children to have to worry about justifying to their peers why I would like them to wear a mask. This is going to subject teachers and administration to uphold zero tolerance for such behavior, which throws another whole responsibility to mediate, intervene, report, and take disciplinary action. As if staff do not already have a lot on their plates.

I am sorry I am unable to attend tomorrow night's BOE meeting as I will be at work. I felt like I still needed to express my feelings on this matter. I see how divided residents and parents are on this and I do not think this needs to be reflected upon our children as well. I am in favor of extending the mask mandate in school until the end of the year, and re-evaluating for the fall.

Kind regards,
Stephanie Gagnon
